Hateful Little Thing at Whitney Museum of American Art Ongoing online project

This online project by Ryan Kuo (2017 RU alum) is part of Sunrise/Sunset, a series of Internet art projects that mark sunset and sunrise in New York City every day. All are commissioned by the Whitney specifically for their website with each project unfolding over a timeframe of ten to thirty seconds. Conceived as a separate persona that expresses its frustrations without inhibition, Kuo's project consists of text boxes that replicate and cover the pages of whitney.org, unfolding in a new sequence each time the work is launched.
