The Snake & The Archive

The Snake & The Archive is a collaborative research & installation project by Stephanie Misa, resident artist at RU, and the Finnish Cultural Institute New York and the queer feminist, zine-producing duo Multiple Spirits. Their installation approaches and encounters the archive—whether as subject, source or concept, and the intersections between them— through embodied and situated knowledge and culturally distinct perspectives. In New York, research for "The Snake & The Archive" was conducted at the Franklin Furnace Archive and traces the work of artists within their collection. The work connects fragmented archival histories and memories— dealing with gaps and absences— and exploring their potential to allow for creative becomings.
